

Navigator Home and Children

Lorne Sanny

I. Introduction.

II. What is the objective of the Navigator home?

A. To contribute to the team ministry as Jesus did.

1. Alternatives:

2. Taking men with you in the ministry.

3. Developing team outside the home.

4. Most say that the Navigator home is necessary to develop this.

B. To create a Christian team in action.

C. To better invest in man to man.

D. To impart the vision.

1. The home gives opportunity for the disciple to see the vision laid out.

2. Other considerations:

a. The type of ministry.

b. The help factor.

E. To assist in the ministry.

III. A Navigator Representative is not someone who has a Navigator home. The home is just a tool among others.

IV. Understandings for a person who moves into the Navigator home.

A. Rules, schedules, expectations, chores, etc.

B. Rather than chores some give “responsibilities” that are divided up variously.

C. Relationship to the children. It is helpful to explain to the child the importance of educating the children and responsibilities toward them.

D. It becomes too easy to put aside either the man you have invited into the home or the ministry toward the family.

V. Practical ways of maintaining a united front as husband and wife.

A. Husbands ought to take the initiative.

B. Decisions can be divided up.

Application questions

1. What is meant by the “Navigator home?”

2. What is the purpose of the Navigator home?

3. What considerations are helpful in inviting in someone to live with you for the sake of ministry to and through them?
